

The ratio classification remains separated after varying latent-table regularisation

